

Alumnus Robert Merton is the first sociologist to receive the National Medal of Science. Does this mean that sociology is finally being recognized in the scientific community?